CASSIDI

At a very young age, Cassidi began to sing and play piano. With this came the tools she needed to begin to write her own songs. With the encouragement and coaching from her immediate family (all musicians), she also taught herself to play guitar and has been playing live for roughly four years. Now 19, she is writing more than ever and has recently released her first single, "All Eyes" which she wrote and co-produced. The song has gathered tremendous support as well as airplay on local radio. She also released a music video for "All Eyes" which she co-directed. It gained thousands of online views the first week it was released. Cassidi has perfected her vocal skills through hours of practice and local shows to garner not only an enthusiastic local following but an inspiration to make music for years to come. With sights set on the future and plans for many more shows this year, Cassidi is setting forth to record and produce her upcoming music. Stay tuned for many more announcements to come and make sure and check out CASSIDI at a show near you!
