Emotion Into Art, is a mixture of performance speed painting and inspirational speaking. This show is performed at colleges, charities and corporate events across the country.

Using fingertips, palms and multiple brushes, Tom Varano paints portraits of famous people on a four foot by five foot canvas in just a matter of minutes. His creations are choreographed to loud music that is powerful and stimulates the senses. The show can be tailored to accommodate the needs of any college or corporate event. Not only will the art draw you in to see what will be revealed on the blank canvas but the speaking and story telling will inspire you to find your passion and to follow your dreams.

Tom's Emotion Into Art is described as taking his audience through an amazing journey of excitement, suspense, cheer, motivation and surprise. His ability to captivate his audience and share the experience of color, music, and action is a way to bring people into the world of art, inspiration and creativity.
